

Non-Exclusive License to
The Journal of Urgent Care Medicine (the “Journal”) owned by The Braveheart Group LLC (“Owner”)

By signing this License, Author(s) acknowledge their full understanding and agreement to the terms and conditions set forth herein. Furthermore, Author(s) acknowledge that the purpose of this instrument is to ensure that the Owner has all of the legal rights, including copyrights, to publish, display, and distribute the Article (defined below by its title) and to perform all other acts related to doing so, including revising or otherwise modifying the Article for publication and promoting and marketing the Article and Journal. In addition to the rights granted below, the Author(s) grant any other rights which may be necessary for Owner to modify, publish, and advertise the Article.

1. License. The Author(s) hereby grant to Owner a non-revocable, non-exclusive, worldwide, royalty-free license, for commercial or noncommercial purposes, to reproduce, publish, republish, produce foreign language translations, transmit, prepare derivative works from, distribute, sell, license, sublicense, transfer, and display the Article, alone or in compilations, in all formats and media and by any method, device, or process, and through any channels, now known or later conceived or developed, including (without limitation) to modify the Article without requiring further permission from the Author(s); to publish and distribute the Article (or revised or derivative versions of the Article) in the Journal in print, online, or other format; to create and distribute translations, adaptations, summaries, and extracts of the Article; and to sublicense others to do any or all of these things.

Author(s) also grant Owner the right to use the Author(s)' name, image, likeness, biographical information, and professional credits in connection with Owner's publication and distribution of the Article (or revised or derivative versions of the Article) and in any advertising, marketing, and promotion in connection therewith. Owner has sole discretion for deciding the form and placement of the authorship credit in the Journal in which the Article appears.

2. Representations and Warranties. Author(s) represent and warrant that:
 - a) Except to the extent the Author(s) indicate(s) in section 5 below that the work was created within the scope of employment, the Author(s) exclusively own(s) the Article and all copyrights to the Article, and no third-parties have claimed or otherwise asserted any rights to the Article.
 - b) All potential conflicts of interest have been acknowledged in the Article and disclosed in writing to Owner, including (without limitation) all forms of financial relationships that may present an appearance of a conflict of interest related to the Article and any other potential conflicts identified in the Journal's manuscript submission guidelines.
 - c) The Author(s) created the Article themselves as a result of their own intellectual effort, and the Article is not copied, in whole or in part, from another source.
 - d) The Article is not subject to an exclusive license or other grant of rights that would diminish or otherwise restrict any of the rights granted herein.
 - e) Owner's exercise of the rights granted herein, including use of the Article as permitted, does not and will not infringe upon or violate any applicable laws, regulations, or the rights of any third party, including (but not limited to) copyright, trademark, privacy, publicity, or other intellectual property rights, and the Article does not contain any material that is libelous or otherwise contrary to law.

- f) Author(s) are competent and have the full power and legal authority to grant the rights provided herein, and such rights are not subject to prior assignment, transfer, or other encumbrance.
- g) Author(s) have obtained the written and signed permission to use any third-party materials appearing in the Article, have provided those written permissions to Owner, and have identified within the Article any such third-party materials and provided appropriate attribution therein.
- h) All statements and presentation of data in the Article asserted as factual are either true or based on generally accepted professional research practices.
- i) The Article complies with all applicable provisions of the Health Insurance Portability and Accountability Act (HIPAA) and any related regulations; the Article does not contain any individually identifiable health information (as defined under HIPAA) and all necessary de-identification measures have been taken to ensure that no information in the Article can be used to identify any individual.

3. Indemnification. Author(s) shall indemnify, defend, and hold harmless Owner, its officers, directors, members, affiliates, successors, employees, agents, and assigns from and against any and all claims, demands, lawsuits, damages, liabilities, losses, costs, and expenses (including attorneys' fees) arising out of or related to: (a) any allegation that Owner's use of the Article as permitted herein violates any law or third-party right, or (b) any breach by Author(s) of any representation, warranty, or obligation under this License.

4. Miscellaneous. Owner has no obligation to publish the Article in the Journal or elsewhere and maintains sole discretion whether to do so. Any costs, fees, or expenses associated with obtaining written permission for any third party materials in the Article are the sole responsibility of Author(s).

This License shall be governed by and construed in accordance with the laws of the state of Illinois, without regard to its conflict of laws principles. If a dispute arises from or relates to this License, its subject matter, or a breach thereof, the parties agree to first make a good-faith effort to resolve such a dispute themselves through direct discussions. If unable to resolve the dispute, the parties shall engage in non-binding mediation and, if still unresolved, the controversy or claim shall be settled by arbitration in Chicago, Illinois, administered by the American Arbitration Association in accordance with its Commercial Arbitration Rules, and judgment on the awarded rendered by the arbitrator(s) may be entered in any court having jurisdiction therefore. In any legal action or other proceedings (including arbitration proceedings) between the parties, the prevailing party shall be entitled to recover from the non-prevailing party all reasonable costs and expenses incurred in such action or proceeding, including without limitation, reasonable attorneys' fees, litigation expenses, and costs.

No amendment or modification of any provision of this Agreement shall be valid or binding unless made in writing and signed by all parties. This License constitutes the entire agreement between the parties with respect to its subject matter, and supersedes all prior and contemporaneous agreements, understandings, and representations. The invalidity or unenforceability of any particular provision of this License shall not affect the other provisions, and this License shall be construed in all respects as if any invalid or unenforceable provision were omitted. This License may be executed in counterparts, each of which shall be deemed an original, all of which together shall constitute one and the same instrument. A faxed, scanned, emailed, or other electronic copy of this License shall be deemed an original.